

WORDS Val Chapman PICTURES John Chapman

The long settees make great single beds

Lunar Delta RS

Twin-axle stability, large kitchen and fixed-bed at only 1555kg. We test a model that proves you really can have it all

PRICE £22,995 BERTHS 4 MIRO 1555kg MTPLM 1715kg BODY LENGTH 6.36m
SHIPPING LENGTH 7.91m BODY WIDTH 2.28m
CONTACT Lunar Caravans T 01772 337628 W lunarcaravans.com

EXTERIOR

You get a 40-litre underslung on-board water tank, an AL-KO jack to enable you to easily jack up both wheels to put on the AL-KO Secure wheel locks. But, on the high-wind day we collected the RS for this test, the exterior attribute that mattered most was the ATC stability control system.

You can't detect it applying the caravan brakes on one side or another to prevent sway before it starts; you just know it's doing its stuff. And on exposed motorway sections on that day we knew it was keeping the RS safe as houses behind the Sorento.

Three other external features help the twin-axle RS to stand out. It has an external shower connection point with hose and shower head, perfect for dog washing or cleaning muddy boots. There's a remote control fob for the alarm and awning light. And when you arrive on a site with super pitches you'll appreciate the water connection point complete with 15 metres of hose.

All the goods without extra weight

INTERIOR

At this price, you expect a caravan laden with equipment - and the RS delivers the goods, and without adding lots of weight - it's around 100kg lighter than many caravans on the market of comparable length and specification.

The specification list is a long one. A big fridge with separate freezer, Alde heating, speakers in the bedroom, lighting built into both skylights, a level gauge for the water tank and a heated towel rail.

Add to that the luxury layout of fixed-bed and full-width end shower room, plus settees of full single-bed, six-seat length and you begin to get the picture of how versatile the big RS really is.

There's a feeling of spaciousness in the central area, because there's a dresser by the door, which pushes the big bulk of a fridge back down the caravan out of the way.

The Delta RS has an elegant, refined atmosphere that's just a touch traditional. Colours of gold and aubergine, with some leaves and flowers appearing as a subtle pattern in the weave,

There is ample space in this luxury bedroom

IDEAL FOR

Couples who want luxury. Towers who value twin-axle stability and ATC stability control

Washroom has good storage areas

We like

The rock-steady tow characteristics, the light weight, the high specification

We dislike

The slightly traditional gold hues may not be to everyone's taste if you like your caravans to be plain

Dresser by door adds to spacious feel

Verdict

EXTERIOR 9/10

ATC, exterior shower connector, superpitch point, wheel locks, remote control for alarm all add up to top-notch luxury

LOUNGING 9/10

The RS gains its points here because the settees are long enough to make single beds - so feet-up luxury during the day is guaranteed

DINING 7/10

No extra points here - just good dining space as you'd expect in a lounge of this size

SLEEPING 8/10

It's a true four-berth, because of those long settees making single beds

KITCHEN 9/10

Storage is enormous, especially at low level; 175-litre fridge with separate freezer is fabulously practical

STORAGE 9/10

You find storage opportunities everywhere you look, in every separate area of the caravan - plus the cavern under that fixed-bed, of course

WASHROOM 8/10

No surprises here - plenty of storage, though, and good space because the little room extends forward slightly on the offside, beside the bed

BUILD QUALITY 9/10

Lunar builds light and builds quality; you can't detect where weight is saved as furniture is so robust

PRACTICALITY 8/10

Enhanced by the long lounge which makes this fixed-bed caravan a true, practical four-berth

VALUE FOR MONEY 7/10

Lunars aren't the cheapest around in their class - but you do get plenty of value in the RS price tag

Caravan
OUR RATING 83/100

This 'van has some top qualities